This year the City of Salon-de-Provence is proud to hold the Presidency of the Community of Ariane Cities (CVA).

This Presidency is not just an honorary title.

Through a varied scientific, cultural and educational programme, the general public is being introduced to the world of space and aeronautics, with exhibitions, talks, workshops for schools and concerts lying at the heart of this effort.

I would like to thank once again the Ecoles d'officiers de l'Armée de l'air - the French Air Force Academy - which are playing their part in making the 2014 CVA Presidency a great success.

Our City will be truly "starstruck" this summer when the European ATV-5 space vehicle is launched to the International Space Station aboard an Ariane 5 bearing the colours of Salon-de-Provence.
